The Brehany Concert.

Mr. Brockmann has been asked during the season why he had secured no fine concerts. The reason has been this: That everything that has been offered that possessed any degree of artistic worth, has been too much on the order of a recital, not the variety and concerted work that it takes to make up a grand concert that will appeal to all. The "Brehany Ballad and Opera Concerts" fill the bill. Brehany herself has been soloist with Sousa, with the Chicago marine band, has traveled two seasons with Remenyi, and with the Liseman string quartet. Her support consists of a fine mezzo soprano, tenor, and baritone, all solo artists of note, making with herself an artistic quartet for the opera work in the last half of the program. Mr. Sauveterre, the Belgian pianist, has accompanied Ole Bull, Remenyi, Patti and other eminent artists. A charming young violinist rounds out this very complete concert company, and the evening of Feb. 8th will be the musical event of the season.

At The Opera House.

The Rentfrow people played "Under Old Glory" at the opera house to a fair sized audience last night. The piece has a number of patriotic features which were cleverly presented. As usual, the music was good.

Tonight the bill will be "Below Zero." That is not to be reckoned as meaning the play will not be "warm." Popular prices prevail and you can rely on the Rentfrow aggregation to give you the worth of your money.

Notice To Delinquents.

You will please call and pay your city taxes as the treasurer has no money to pay checks drawn on him as city treasurer. All taxes due the city must be paid on or before the 31st day of March 1899, or I will be compelled to advertise and sell property to satisfy amount of taxes. R. M. Rees, City Collector.

STATE PRISON BILL PASSES.

Doings in the North Carolina Legislature Yesterday—Bill as to the Insane Laws.

Raleigh, Jan. 25.—The senate met at 10 o'clock and prayer was offered by Rev. M. M. Marshall. After the presentation of petitions, reports of committees and the introduction of bills the calendar was taken up and the following bills passed final reading: To authorize the town of Morganton to purchase an electric light and power plant; to amend chapter 345, laws of 1895, by striking out "French Broad" after "River," in section 1; to authorize the commissioners of Moore county to bond the county's indebtedness; to allow the order of Columbus to come within the provisions of section 3,063, of the Code; to incorporate the Pamlico Christian Benevolent Society; to authorize Elizabeth City to issue bonds for special tax; to forward copy of fish bill No. 63, to Washington, D. C.; to amend chapter 681, laws of 1897, (relating only to Robeson county, and providing that the price of recording crops shall be reduced); to reorganize and incorporate the state penitentiary. Upon the ayes and noes being taken, the vote upon this bill stood 38 ayes and 5 noes. Senator Fuller, colored, said that this was a bill to provide a parent for an orphan child; that he believed it it was a good measure, and, therefore, he voted with the majority.

The bill codifying and consolidating the insane laws came with a favorable report from the committee except as to one or two provisions. There was a lengthy discussion as to the clause with reference to confining the criminal insane in the penitentiary here, being opposed by the majority of the senators who spoke. Finally the bill was re-referred to the committee and it was ordered that 200 copies of the amendments to the bill be printed and distributed among the senators.

The bills to incorporate the North Carolina & Provident Association and to amend the charter of the Southern Investment Company were taken up and passed their readings.

Upon motion Senator Hill was added to the committee on finance and Senator Smith to the committee on trustees of the University.

The senate adjourned at 12:55.

IN THE HOUSE.

The house met at 9 o'clock and Rev. Mr. Bain offered prayer.

Bills were introduced as follows: By Davis, of Hyde, to incorporate the Knights of Hyde. By Hendron to amend chapter 530, acts 1897. By Powell, to reduce auction fees on leaf tobacco. By Leatherwood, to amend section 1,285, of The Code. By Suggs, to amend chapter 169, acts 1895. By Davis, to appoint justices of the peace in Hyde. By Moore, to prohibit the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors in Jackson, and to more effectively protect school houses and churches there. By Nicholson, to amend chapter 200, public laws, 1897.

The bill reorganizing the penitentiary was taken up. It is the one agreed on at the democratic caucus last night, and changes the name to state prison and creates 12 new directors. The bill passed second reading without debate. On the third reading Hampton, republican, demanded the yeas and nays and also asked for an explanation of the bill. This was quickly and succinctly given by Foushee, who said the bill was to turn over to the dominant party the penitentiary and the farms. He said it was in the nature of a writ of ejectment. At this there was laughter. The vote on the bill was: Yeas 89, nays 15. There was a laugh when Smith colored, of Craven, voted yea. The bill was immediately sent over to the senate.

A resolution creating a joint committee to investigate the affairs of the agricultural department was taken up. It also places upon the committee of three senators and five representatives the duty of investigating the affairs for the past four years of the state treasury and charitable institutions. It passed without debate, after a republican amendment to make the period six years had been voted down.

A bill to prohibit hunting in Gaston and Catawba counties, save by consent of owners of land, passed its readings. A bill to change the time of meeting of county commissioners to the first Tuesday in each month was tabled. (Ray, of Cumberland, said the object was to prevent travel on Sundays.) Several local bills, allowing sheriffs to collect arrears of taxes were tabled as a general bill covers the whole matter.

A bill passed to prevent hog and chicken cholera in Edgecombe.

A bill to protect buyers and sellers of leaf tobacco in the state by making failure to comply with contract a misdemeanor was taken up. It applies also to farmers who have contracted to sell their tobacco to warehouses or agents. The report of the committee was favorable. Davis, of Franklin, the author of the bill, explained its provisions, saying it was to enforce honesty. Foushee antagonized the bill saying if a warehouseman failed to carry out a contract he should be responsible in a civil action, not criminally. He thought the bill went too far and was an invasion of the liberties of the citizens. Rountree said the bill appeared to him revolutionary and an invasion of the common law. He thought there was too much legislation making too many acts criminal. The discussion of the bill became quite general. Powell, of Wake, thought the bill very fair, while Overman declared it violative of the constitution. Rountree moved a reference to the judiciary committee. It was so referred.

A bill in regard to fishing nets in Albemarle Sound and its tributaries, with an amendment excepting the Roanoke river came up. It was stated that it was the result of a compromise between all the fishing interests. It passed. It prohibits the use of nets which reach the bottom.

A bill amending Denton's charter, by dividing it into four wards, passed.

A bill amend The Code, section 1,120, by forbidding entry on lands without owner's consent, was tabled.

A bill amending charter of Franklinton, passed its third reading; as did also a bill to allow Fayetteville to receive 25 per cent. of last year's taxes in full settlement.

A bill passed to amend chapter 108, public laws 1895, so as to allow Mooreville commissioners to fill vacancies due by death of a cotton weigher.

A bill to restore Mt. Airy township, Surry county, came up. (The legislature of 1895 created three new townships out of it. In 1897 the legislature created one more township.) The old townships issued bonds. The bondholders, Hampton said, wanted this bill passed, to prevent repudiation of a debt. He said he opposed repudiation, but that the matter was in the courts and if the courts failed the legislature could take action. He admitted that the debt was a just one. Gattis said in 1897 Mt. Airy township issued $20,000 of bonds and a Baltimore savings bank bought them. The legislature of '95 cut down Mt. Airy township, leaving of it the town alone, and then, in 1897 the legislature abolished Mt. Airy township entirely, trying to avoid payment of an honest debt. Hampton called for the yeas and nays, with passage of the bill, and up rose the republicans and populists. Clarkson said: "I vote yea, as I am against repudiating any contract in any shape or form." The bill passed 87 to 11.

A bill to repeal chapter 491, acts '93 in regard to impounding live stock in Edgecombe, passed; as did also a bill to amend chapter 65, public laws of 1895, by striking out Vance, Alamance, Bladen and Granville counties. (The last act amend the chapter which requires a four-inch board to be placed on top of wire fences. A bill passed amending the charter of the town of Southport.)

A bill to incorporate the People's Storage & Warehouse Company, of Raleigh passed; as did a bill to elect four additional commissioners of Craven county, so as to give the democratic charge. (Thompson, of Onslow, explained the latter bill very fully and vigorously and said it was for the benefit of the good people of Craven. He said that in the east, unfortunately, it was often the worst element of the functionists which united with the worst negro element and that this was the case in Craven. Smith, of Craven, said the negro on the board of Craven county commissioners had voted to put two regular democrats in office and he declared he did not think it was a radical board.)

A bill to repeal chapter 135, public acts, 1895, and re-enact the laws it repealed, so far as Craven county commissioners are concerned, passed. (It was explained by Thompson, who said it provided for the election by justices of the board of county commissioners. Isaac Smith asked if this did not knock out the election in June and when Speaker Connor said yes, Isaac raised a great laugh by saying, "Well, let her go." She went.)

Smith's resolution urging congress to favor the pending bill to restore to the negro depositors $1,500,000, which was lost in the failure of the Freedman's Savings Bank, came up with an unfavorable report. Smith defended the bill. He took occasion to eulogize F. M. Simmons, saying he represented everything true and noble in politics. On motion of Robinson, of Cumberland, the bill was re-referred to the committee, as Smith requested.

Under suspension of the rules, a resolution was adopted asking the state treasurer to state what he has paid lawyers for services rendered him and the governor, and what he has paid out to the penitentiary and on what account, how much he has received during the past two years and from what sources, and also whether any interest on deposits have been received.

A bill to amend the charter of Graham, Alamance county, passed.—Charlotte Observer.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Harrisburg, Jan. 26.—All interest of the senatorial candidates and their supporters centers today on the McCowell bill which almost takes from the district attorneys the right to decline to accept jurors except in capital cases. The senate takes up the bill today. The house committee is expected to favorably report the measure. It is considered as a scheme to assist Quay in his conspiracy suits. The anti-Quayites and democrats conferred today to determine their action on this bill. There is no sign of weakening anywhere in the senatorial fight.

City Improvements.

Editor Telegram:—While the question of a dispensary is agitating our town it is important to every citizen of Greensboro, no matter what may be his views on the dispensary matter, to bear in mind the all important subject of city improvements, a complete system of sewerage, an adequate water supply, paved streets and other things necessary to the growth and well being of our town. And in this connection, in the event that a bond issue is successful that the expenditure of the funds will be placed in the hands of the city's most capable and responsible citizens. While the people of Greensboro may differ on the dispensary matter, it is to be hoped that the settlement of the question will be speedily reached, and with as little bitterness as possible and that the people will meet on a common ground in the matter of city improvements. Didn't Last Long.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. Kansas City, Jan. 26.—The Planter's Bank closed yesterday and its proprietors Leonard Imboden and S. H. Hancock have been arrested pending investigation. The bank was chartered on the 10th of January last, with a capital stock of $25,000 paid up. On Jan. 25th it reported to state bank examiner a credit of $28,306 with Blair & Co., New York, $53,000 with banks here and at St. Louis. The examiner ascertained that none of these banks held any of the Planter's Bank money.

THE H. & L. BOYS' QUARTERS.

What They Will Be When The Improvements Are Made.

When the improvements on the corrugated tin building across the street from the engine house, to be occupied by the hook and ladder company, are made, that company will have excellent quarters for their truck and stock. The building is to be nicely floored and celled, having windows on both sides and the stables in the rear. A chimney will be constructed and a stove placed in the building to prevent dampness and thereby keep the truck from rusting. It will be remembered that these improvements were recommended by a committee at the last meeting of the board of aldermen and that the board appropriated the money for these and other improvements in the fire department. The hook and ladder company's mules will be exchanged for a pair of good horses as soon as practicable and then the boys will be well equipped sure enough.

Engine Derailed.

The engine of No. 37, the south-bound vestibule, due here at 7:05 a. m., jumped the track at Charlottesville, Va., last night and as a result that train came in nearly five hours late today, arriving here at 11:25. The engine is one of the new monsters and was exceedingly hard to handle, and two other engines were required to help it out of its trouble, so the passengers say. The accident occurred shortly after 2 o'clock and the train left Charlottesville at 5:30. No one was injured.

Wall Street Wild.

New York, Jan. 26.—Wall street was wild at the opening today. Advances of two to three points are not uncommon, but rubber jumped 53, Metropolitan 213; up preferred advanced 2, N. Y. Central, Grangers, Pacific, B. and O. strong. After the first rush there was a reaction, but distinctly firm and there was level trading on a very large scale.

THURSDAY, JAN. 26, 1899.

The country has been treated to a gigantic farce in the investigations of the board of inquiry into the management of the war. Now, wait for the result of the trial of General Eagan by court-martial.

Let no question sidetrack the fact that Greensboro is making much progress in an industrial and business way, and that those in authority have great responsibility on their shoulders in the way of city improvement. Streets, sidewalks, etc., need attention and means must be provided for their improvement. Keep these things in mind.

The Telegram is gratified to note again the growing sentiment in favor of substantial road improvement in Guilford county. The farmers, than whom no class of our citizens will receive so great a benefit from good roads, are getting the cue, and when they become a unit on this matter it will only be a question as to how long it will take to do the work.

Our "straight prohibition" friends may not realize what they are doing; but in fighting the dispensary movement they are practically fusing with their old and avowed enemies, the whiskey men, because they are both fighting for the same result, viz: the defeat of the dispensary. It is a condition which greatly tickles the barroom men. Understand, please, we do not mean that the prohibitionists intend to help the barroom people; but in this case that can be the only effect of their antagonism to the dispensary.

The Charlotte Observer, ever on the alert and wide awake to the best interests of North Carolina people, is agitating, principally through its bustling representative, Mr. H. E. C. Bryant, diversified farming. His letters are timely, interesting, and, as we see it, intensely practical. Among other things he advocates for Piedmont North Carolina, the grass section, cattle raising for the beef market. The decline in this product on the Texas and other western ranches for the past three or four years and the increase in price of steers should be a great incentive to our farmers to put into practice the suggestions of Mr. Bryant. Let us have more beef and better beef. Let us have first class home-grown beef. It will please the consumers and be a source of revenue to the farmers.

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want the best medicine that can be obtained, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectoration easy.

You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only medicine in use that meets all of these requirements. This remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It has rivals, but, for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer and its splendid qualities are everywhere admired and praised. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Miss Mamie Witless and Henry Foorrest were married in Lincoln county last week. Heaven will surely smile upon such a fitting union as that.—Denver Post.

The Deadly Grip

Is again abroad in the land. The air you breathe may be full of the fatal germs. Don't neglect the "Grip" or you will open the door to pneumonia and consumption and invite death. Its sure signs are chills with fever, headache, dull heavy pains, mucous discharges from the nose, sore throat and never-let-go cough. Don't waste precious time treating this cough with troches, tablets, or poor, cheap syrups. Cure it at once with Dr. King's New Discovery, the infallible remedy for bronchial troubles. It kills the disease germs, heals the lungs and prevents the dreaded after effects from the malady. Price 50c and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A trial bottle free at C. E. Holton's drugstore.

The Louisville Dispensary.

Rev. Foorrest Smith, pastor of the Baptist church, Louisville, gives the following facts about the workings of the dispensary: "The dispensary has been in operation in Louisville for something like eighteen months. I have watched it closely and carefully during that time. The Christian element in Louisville do not endorse the dispensary system because they think it the best system ever operated, but we endorse it because it is the best system that can be operated successfully at present in curtailing the whiskey traffic in Louisville. Many of us think that prohibition is far better than the dispensary, in fact we know it is, but it is well known that prohibition will not prohibit until public sentiment is strong enough to enforce the law, and manage the blind tiger. Consequently, we gladly take the dispensary in preference to the abominable saloon. We believe it is a gigantic step toward the final abolition of the saloon in this town."

Following, in a condensed form, are some of the advantages.

1. More business in the last twelve months than in years before.
2. Much less drunkenness. Though more people in town, less arrests by 49 under the dispensary than under the saloon system.
3. No larger a factor in politics. The ex-saloonist, without his barroom, is shorn of his power.
4. Public sentiment has steadily grown against the saloon and in favor of the dispensary since the dispensary went into operation. It can be truthfully said that almost every good citizen in town favors the dispensary. He says in conclusion: "Of the two, give me the dispensary first, last and all the time."

NO STOVES IN KOREA.

Instead Flues Are Laid Under the Floors, Which Are Thus Heated.

Stoves are not used to any extent by the native Koreans. The Korean method of heating is excellently adapted to their resources and conditions. In building their houses they lay down a system of flues where the floor is to be. These flues begin at a fireplace, which is usually placed in an outer shed or connecting closed alleyway. From this fireplace the flues extend in a more or less curved direction, like the ribs of a round fan, to a trench at the rear of the room, which in turn opens into a chimney, which is usually placed some distance from the house. Flat flagstones are then placed carefully over these flues, and the whole is cemented over and finally covered with a thick oil paper, for which the country is noted. This paper keeps smoke from entering the room, and a little straw or brushwood, used in the fireplace for cooking the rice, serves to heat the stone floor and gives an agreeable warmth, which lasts till the time of the next meal.

Two heatings daily tend to give the people a nice warm floor, upon which they sit in the daytime and sleep at night. By leaving their shoes at the door the inmates preserve the paper floor, which from constant polishing takes on a rich brown color.—New York Press.

Maori Women.

The Maori women of Australasia have their rights—flourishing ones. Generally they have little voice or choice in the selection of their first husbands, but they may, and frequently do, change them. A woman may trade her husband without so much as a comment from the public, without the slightest smudge on her good name, and it is nothing to his discredit either. Courtship is always brief and does not often precede marriage. The Maoris, however, love to repeat oriental love tales and sing love songs. Maori widows not infrequently commit suicide on the graves of their husbands and are honored for doing so, as in China. Divorce is simple; it needs no revenue, employs no officers. He turns her out of doors, and both are free to remarry. This is all. Girls are often betrothed irrevocably from infancy.

Protection.

Nephew (from the city)—Why do you have those lightning rods on your house and barn, Uncle Josh? Don't you know the theory that they afford protection has long since been exploded?

Uncle Josh—Waal, I kin tell you they dew act as peckers, they're or no they're.

Nephew—Do you mean to tell me you believe they protect you from lightning?

Uncle Josh—Mebby not, young un, mebby not, but they peckert me from them punk lightning rod peddlars.—Chicago News.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back or weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by using Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic, cures constipation, headache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

HER NAME AT THE TOP

"U. S. S. BROOKLYN" WENT ABOVE "H. M. S. SPHINX."

A Heroic Feat at Muscat by Some of Uncle Sam's Old Time Jack Tar Crew.

There was once another Brooklyn, the forerunner of the present armored cruiser, but the old Brooklyn, which, during the civil war, gained the name of the "Butcher Shop," had no resemblance to the floating fortress that hurried destruction into the fleet of Admiral Cervera. The old ship bore a great spread of canvas and had but auxiliary steam power. Her lofty masts and creaking yards would seem singularly out of place today, but they served their purpose in their own time. Her open deck, with double row of muzzle loading smoothbore guns, looked like a scene from a medieval drama, and when she went to sea the flapping of the sails and the snap of the cordage were not an unwelcome lullaby to those who slept beneath her cool white decks.

This old Brooklyn sailed one day from New York, bound upon a roving cruise and came in time to the Azores islands, whence she sailed for Lisbon and Gibraltar, and passing through the Mediterranean and the Suez canal, steamed slowly down the coast of Red sea. A stop at Aden for day or two made her ready for a journey to the Persian gulf, but when the gulf of Ormaz was reached the skipper thought to take a look at Muscat, and so the course was shaped for the capital of the son of Abraham, whose fortresses, hundreds, may thousands, of years, had been sheiks of the desert.

In all her journey the good ship had entered not a port where the proud cross of St. George could not be seen from the staff of a British man-of-war, but here at Muscat it was thought that at least our flag would be the only token of western civilization in evidence. But it was not so, for, as the Brooklyn rounded a high promontory that shut in the little harbor, there, lying at anchor, was seen the English gunboat Sphinx with her milk white flag floating above her.

Muscat had much that was strange and weird to interest the Americans, but neither the palace of the sultan, with its double wall, between the two parts of which are kept the tigers whose duty it is to guard the palace at night, nor the imperial harem's grim exterior, nor the gorgeous apparel of the sultan himself had half the attraction for the westerners that the grim, sheer face of the promontory that shuts in the harbor had; for there upon the black wall of this towering height were painted the names of many ships, and high above them all, in a place that seemed inaccessible, were the words, "H. M. S. Sphinx."

The men of the Brooklyn stared at that day and night, and it seemed to them that the ship had been burned into their brains, and the spirit of emulation grew within them. The night before the Brooklyn was to sail for Persian waters there were evidences of a secret movement among the crew, and after the night had fallen still and black a boat pulled off from the vessel's side, and with muffled oars made rapidly for the shore. It carried many things of various sorts, and among them a lantern, whose tiny glimmer those on the ships watched with bated breath as it reached the shore and began to beam the ascent of the promontory. Now it would disappear and then glitter again like a star of hope and comfort, and so it went slowly on, ever up and up the face of the outlined precipice. The hours dragged slowly by, and it was far into the night when a tired boat's crew clambered slowly over the Brooklyn's side and dropped exhausted into their hammocks for a short sleep before the call of "all hands" in the morning.

The Brooklyn sailed away just as the sun began to show above the eastern horizon, and as she swung upon her course and stood for the waters of the open gulf a cheer burst from the throats of the whole ship's company. For there, in great letters of white that caught the warmth of the sun, and far above the name of her majesty's ship Sphinx, far above the highest name of all, could be seen the legend "U. S. S. Brooklyn."

How a Frog Hibernates.

According to Simon Henry Sage, the frog does not hibernate in leaves or in trunks of trees, but in a dry hole in the ground not likely to freeze. He scratches the hole with his hind feet and enters backward. Once inside, there is apparently no trace of the fact outside. Frogs found under frozen leaves are still able to move about. Mr. Sage has found hibernating frogs with their extremities and skin frozen, but their vital organs were still intact, and they recovered their activity on being liberated.—London Globe.

Sweetheart. Mr. A. Ballard, B. A., LL. B., sends us the following from Oxford: "Your tale of the Italian prelate reminds me of the negro student who at one of our great missionary colleges was conducting family prayers, and in an outburst of enthusiasm prayed, 'Give us all pure hearts, give us all clean hearts, give us all sweet hearts,' to which all the congregation replied, 'Amen.'"—London Chronicle.

English farthings are no longer likely to be mistaken for half crowns, for now they are minted not only of a different size and design, but even of a different color, being a dull bronze.

The smallest things may exert the greatest influence. De Witt's Little Early Risers are unequalled for overcoming constipation and liver troubles. Small pill, best pill, safe pill. Howard Gardner.

No Cure—No Pay. That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Mr. S. A. Packard, editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe and its exhausting after-effects. Never fails. Howard Gardner.

Arrangements for Extending the Postal Telegraph Line.

The Charlotte News says: Mr. J. F. Austin, superintendent of construction for the Postal Telegraph Company, arrived in Charlotte Sunday night from Richmond. Mr. Austin was sent to Charlotte to await further orders. He was seen by a News reporter this morning and he states that his company will certainly open an office in this city at no distant date.

This line would have already been under way had not a suit been brought by the Western Union people asking the courts to prohibit the Postal from building their line along the Southern and Seaboard Air Line. This case is now pending in the federal court at Greensboro. There was some hitch in the trial of the case and for this reason the work of construction has been delayed.

Mr. Austin tells the News that he will start a force out of Charlotte and a force equally as large will begin work out of Greensboro. These will construct the line between Charlotte and Greensboro. The company already has a line to Durham. This will be extended to Greensboro and, when this circuit has been completed, the Postal will tap most of the good towns of the state.

A large force is now operating between Raleigh and Fayetteville repairing the line. It is probable that this force will have charge of the construction of the line between Durham and Raleigh.

Transfer Will Take Place Monday.

We have it on indisputable authority that on Monday next, Messrs. Walters and Newcomer, representing the stockholders of the Atlantic and Yadkin railroad, will pay over to the Master Commissioners, Eugene Martin and Clement Manly, for the benefit of the bondholders and other creditors of the C. F. & Y. V. railroad, the sum of $3,110,000 in cash, and will, thereupon, receive the deeds to the property. Also that during the same week the Atlantic Coast Line will take formal charge of the C. F. & Y. V. — Fayetteville Observer.
